MISSION CREEK FESTIVAL

BRASS BED

Sunshine, sarcastic, and sullen, Brass Bed are a quartet of wide-eyed pop dreamers rifling through record bins and churning out recordings that double as rock and roll history lessons. Born and raised in Lafayette, Louisiana, their music elevates the unrestrained power pop of Big Star and the guitar heroics of Television with the 60's pop revivalism of bands like Dukes of the Stratosphere and the Elephant 6 collective. Their songs speak with a voice that is both thoroughly modern and reverent of the past. More information at

GOLDEN BIRDS

GOLDEN BIRDS HAS BEEN ONE OF MUSIC'S BEST KEPT SECRETS for a very long time. Band leader, Webster McBride, has quietly been building his band's legacy for a decade. His songwriting is nothing if not unique: it is intimate, it is jagged, it is beautiful, it is layered with elliptical lyricism and stunning musical sounds. A nomad of sorts, McBride's music often represents, through abstract narratives, the journeys, adventures, and romances he's experienced as he moves from place to place. More information at
